RINKYDINKS WIN THE WATERMELON

DIRECTOR CUSHMAN ORGANIZING TENNIS LEAGUE

The grand and coveted prize—a big juicy watermelon—largest that could be found in town—was won by the Rinkydinks baseball team, captained by Kenneth Gothro, in competition with three other teams. The Rinkydinks won five games and lost but one. The standings of the several teams are as follows:

	Won	Lost
Rinkydinks	5	1
Yankees	4	2
Tigers	1	3
Giants	0	4

The Yankees under Captain Emil Kraus, Jr., gave the "melon" winners a hard run for their money and lost the final game, Saturday, by only one run after nine hard innings. That put the Yankees in second place. There is a hot rivalry between these two teams and it may take more games to prove that either team is very much better than the other. In the two games played together the Rinkydinks won one and the Yankees won one and each game had only one run lead.

The Tigers under Captain Alfred DeFram who landed in third place have strengthened their lineup so that great opposition is expected from that team in further contests. The Giants who landed in the cellar position put up a good fight in each of their games but lacked the final punch that wins. Captain George Lietz is on the look-out for a Ruth or two to help them.

It was a grand contest between these youngsters and while the rivalry was keen still there was the finest of spirit manifest throughout.

To Organize Tennis League

Plans are under way to organize a tennis league. Already there are several aspirants who feel that Tilden and Williams haven't much on them. This too promises to be a sport well worth seeing. There will be both boys and girls singles and doubles and mixed doubles. Coach Cushman asks that anyone interested in getting in on the tennis matches report to him at once. It is hoped that enough girls turn out to organize a league for themselves.

These games are being played at the Conine tourist park at the head of Michigan avenue. Coach Cushman is on the job daily to look after the youngsters as well as after the needs of the many tourists that go there.

10:30 a. m. Theme: "Intoxicated." 7:30 p. m. Theme: "Walled-in Generosity."

The children coming home from school, suggest strange and alluring things to our minds. In fact, it has been just one year since a dear, dear friend went into the centre of the universe, and we are still in school. But the time is coming when school for us will let out, and we shall go home from school and find her waiting smile to greet us. So Bliss Carman, the Canadian poet who recently died sings for us:

After School

When all my lessons have been learned,
And the last year at school is done,
I shall put up my books and games;
Good-bye, my fellows, every one!

The dusty road will not seem long,
Nor twilight lonely, nor dawn
The everlasting whippoorwill
That lead me back where I was born.

And there beside the open door,
In a large country dim and cool,
Her waiting smile shall hear at last,
"Mother, I am come home from school."

GRAYLING PUPILS ATTENDING COLLEGE

At this time of year when schools and colleges are announcing the number of our Grayling young people who are continuing their education beyond high school. We find that of the twenty-five graduates of 1927 have been going on with their training. This includes Violet Williams, and Clarice Walsh who are taking nurses training at Mercy Hospital, Evelyn Heidemann training in a Chicago hospital, Ada Kidston training at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing, also Margarette and Ella Hanson who were graduated this June from Miss Bennett's School, Millbrook, N. Y., and Myrtle and Sarah Vance who are enrolled at Central State Teacher's College.

Among the other Crawford County people who spent last winter in schools are: Esther Barber, Carrie Feldhauser, Mrs. Pauline Edmonds, and Mrs. Chas. Gothro at Central State Teacher's College, Earle Gierke at Davenport Business Institute, Grand Rapids, Michigan; Edward Mason at University of Detroit, Paul Hendrickson, Anthony Wayne Institute, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Marie Schmidt, University of Michigan, Matt Bidia at Detroit Business College, Elizabeth Harder at Junior College in Foreman, S. D., and Eunice Schriber at Central State Teacher's College. We are pleased to mention Alice Wellington who was graduated with the highest honors of her class from Central State Teacher's College this last June.

WRITES AGAIN FROM CHINA

INTERESTING LETTER OF CHINA FROM EMERSON BATES

On board M. S. Pulda
Off coast of Korea,
May 19th, 1929.

Dear Ones:

I mailed my last letter to you in Kobe. We left Shanghai last Monday morning and arrived Wednesday about six p. m. off the coast of Hsokai. After our trip thru the inland sea had been foggy and rainy, still there were times when we had glimpses of what the country looked like and how wonderful the scenery would be if viewed in good weather. Hundreds of islands, green grass (a rarity in the Philippines) blue water, and all the other items that make up a beautiful scenic effect.

Isokai as viewed from the ship was a small village along the shore with a couple of factories and a railroad to give it a modern touch. There was no dock so all the unloading had to be done into lighters that were brought alongside. Unloading started almost at once and lasted all the next day. We were unable to get ashore until the next morning when a small motor launch came alongside. This first glimpse of Japan, a small town made us like it better than what we had seen of China. The place was clean, the people much cleaner and nicer and there was more of a business like manner in the shops. There was a little temple here. But as it started to rain we hurried back on board. That night we sailed for and arrived in Kobe. At five in the morning we were awakened for health inspection by the Japanese port authorities. At 10:00 a. m. I got a couple of Rickshaws and we went to a Japanese place where sukiyaki was served. We had been on the main streets until then. Our Rickshaws wound around thru little narrow streets and at last stopped before this Japanese place. Several Japanese girls were there and pointed out some cushions on the steps. A Japanese man brought out some slippers so we sat down and took off our shoes. One of the girls led us into a little room whose furniture consisted of two pillows and a low table. A window opened out onto a little Japanese garden. The sides of the room were Japanese panels and a little Buddha shrine was in one corner. The girl who brought us in could say only a few words in English and we were worse off in Japanese. But we did get it across that we wanted sukiyaki. She asked us "chickie sukiyaki?" and when we didn't appear to understand she flapped her arms and moved like a rooster. So we ordered "chicken sukiyaki." This Japanese dish is about the same as Chinese chop suey, as they make a mixture of all the different things they have in the kitchen. The little table mentioned had a hole cut in the center of it. Ta Me, the girl who served us brought a dish full of coals and put it in the hole in the table and then proceeded to make the food. It was interesting to watch her. A pretty little Japanese in khaki and a hair done in the quaint Japanese style, kneeling and cooking this food. It was composed of chicken, mushrooms, onions, and about six Japanese foods, none of which I knew and some kind of I will close this letter as it is getting late. We are just about settled. We of spoons to cook with—and this was all we had to eat with. She gave each of us a dish with a raw egg in it. As the sukiyaki was cooked, she put it on the egg and we ate it, if we but shop, sightsee and enjoy life. We could. We could.

rice. I was quite proud of my hand-ling of the chopsticks, for I ate until I was full and never lost a mouthful of off the sticks.

After dinner we called a car but as it was a long time coming, Ta Me acted as guide and showed us the whole building. There must have been forty rooms of various sizes, all done in different designs. As for the stance, one would be bamboo, the in next cherry blossom, another rice, another painting, etc. It was very interesting. Our chauffeur understood no English and it took us an hour to get home, probably on purpose.

We were disappointed in not seeing more of Japan as we had expected four days in Kobe. However we saw a little of it and enjoyed that little a great deal. Kobe is a business city, taking the place of Yokohama since the earthquake and consequently is very modern.

We sailed Saturday morning early and today noon we sighted Korea, I had hoped to see there but cannot do so. Tuesday night we will be at "Mich Out of Doors" publication of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. "Flies are pests not so much because they irritate people by repeatedly alighting on their faces and hands, but because they are the carriers of over 30 disease organisms, including typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diphtheria, swine fever, and enteritis."

Removal or destruction of the breeding places of the fly provides the easiest and most method of extermination. The article continues: "Absolute cleanliness and either Japan, then off the Korean coast, then along the China coast. During the day we were hardly out of sight of Japan."

A solution of three teaspoonfuls of sandbar about ten miles off the coast of Japan or water sweetened with a little so our boat had to anchor way out. We left our good ship "Pulda" about noon after thanking all the many solution can be exposed by inverting a partially filled glass of the liquid over a saucer lined with blotting paper the size of the dish. By inserting a small match stick under the glass, that part of the solution which evaporates can be automatically re-placed.

According to the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, the Midshipmen's Training Squadron, which is cruising in the Mediterranean, will visit the ports of Barcelona, Spain; Naples, Italy; and Gibraltar, during the month of July. Nine hundred midshipmen are making the cruise, which will end early in August, when the midshipmen making the cruise will be granted thirty days leave of absence. The squadron consists of the battleships Arkansas (flagship), Utah and Florida and is commanded by Rear Admiral Lanning.

CIRCUIT COURT NEXT WEEK

The summer term of Circuit court will convene next Tuesday afternoon, July 9th at one o'clock. It is expected that this will be an unusually long term, owing to the Mary Wood case coming up at that time. There will be a number of attorneys, witnesses and heirs present; and so doubt it will be an interesting case.

Four criminal cases are on the docket for disposal, three of which are for violations of the prohibition law, Robert Alexander, William Reamer and Mary Blichak being the defendants. The other case is the People vs. Loren Moon for the malicious killing of beasts.

Besides the Mary J. Wood case on the July Civil list there is the Malco-Marker case to come up again.

Two chancery cases Lena M. Clothier vs. Ernest E. Clothier, divorce, and Verle G. Sheldon vs. Blanche L. Sheldon, divorce, and three petitions for naturalization Thomas William Clarke, Mrs. Ethel Martha Green, and Joseph Mallinger are to be disposed of.

Following is the list of jurors that have been selected for this term: Chairman Rogers, Beaver Creek. Saywell Johnson, Frederic. Edgar Burghy, Grayling. A. R. Caid, Lovells. Henry Verlinde, Maple Forest.

James H. Williams, South Branch. Martin Jagosh, Beaver Creek. C. N. Barber, Frederic. John Isenbauer, Grayling. John Surday, Lovells. William J. Bigham, Maple Forest.

method—which keeps your skin healthy—
will keep it lovely too

NO CREAM transforms the skin. But scientific care, which encourages swift circulation through the tissues and keeps the skin cells vividly healthy, will make your skin clear, soft and firm. This is the foundation of the Elizabeth Arden method. Cleansing the skin—with Elizabeth Arden's Venetian Creaming Cream—removes impurities which clog the pores and cause blackheads. Skin patting—with Arden's Skin Tonic and Special Ardening—tones the skin and firms the contours. Nourishing—with Orange Skin Food or the delicate Velvet Cream—fills out the skin cells and so corrects lines and wrinkles. Follow this same method in the care of your skin at home.

EDITORS ENJOY OUTING IN DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Schumann and daughter Eleanor were in attendance at the annual summer outing of the Michigan State Press association held in Detroit Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. Headquarters were at Fort Shelby hotel on Lafayette boulevard where 200 newspaper publishers and their wives were afforded the most delightful accommodations.

A visit to the offices of Campbell-Ewald Co., in the General Motors building was especially appreciated by the men of the party. This is the largest advertising agency in the world and the publishers were given an idea of the science in which this work is conducted. This agency employs 600 people in the various departments and occupies a whole floor in the General Motors building.

Most of the publishers found time Thursday afternoon to take in a ball game between the Tigers and Cleveland Indians when they were privileged to see Roy Johnson, the Tiger's star center fielder, hit a homer while the bases were loaded. Mr. Navin sent complimentary tickets to the editors' party.

Most of Friday was spent in a visit to the wonderful proving grounds of the General Motors Co. near Milford, as guests of that company. A much clearer idea was gained from this visit of the magnitude and importance of this plant than was possible to get from any other source. The tour was in order to prove to the engineers that they would stand the requirements that are expected of them in regular service.

Saturday the publishers were guests of a large Steamship Co. for a trip to Put-In-Bay and return. The trip down the Detroit river and across Lake Erie was delightful and gave the guests an opportunity to view both our own and also the Canadian shore line. Finzel's orchestra furnished music and dancing was enjoyed by most of the party. A banquet was tendered the publishers on the island and was enjoyed by all the hungry ones for the boat trip had developed a healthy appetite for all. Fox Theatre sent the guests tickets for any and all of their performances while they were in the city. They were greatly enjoyed.

Sunday morning saw just about all the publishers party starting on their homeward journey after three days of most delightful pleasure. A more detailed account of the outing will be published in a later edition of the Avalanche.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS NOTICE

At this time of year when you must wish to work it just seems the hardest time of year to find something to do. But there is a fine opportunity for some of you who are ambitious. Lt. John Croshaw who is in charge of the General's Mess during the encampment has expressed a need for some high school people to wait table and do other necessary things around a mess of this kind. He offers the boys $2.00 per day with board and lodging. They are to begin work July 15. To the girls who are to help with the ladies mess he will pay $10.00 per week with board and lodging. They are to begin work July 10th. The matter of staying nights at the camp is optional with the helpers. If you will call at this office we will put you in touch with Lt. Croshaw. Better get your name in early as there will be a rush toward this chance to earn some summer money.

Upholds Amateur Athletics

Mr. Avery Brundage, the forceful leader of the A. A. U., who has taken drastic steps toward clearing the name of his organization from any taint of professionalism, the first step was the release of college athletes from A. A. Brundage further declared his determination to run down all traces of violation of amateur rules by athletes supposedly performing for sport and not commercially.

Comparatively New Letter

The letter J is a comparatively late addition to the Latin I. The form J was developed from I during the Middle Ages, but it was long used in certain positions to the word without regard to the sound as consonant or vowel. J gradually became differentiated from I in function as well as form, but the separation of J as a consonant and I as a vowel was not fully established until the seventeenth century.

Ancients Excelled in Art of Glass Staining

The medieval artists in stained glass told the jewellers setting diamonds and rubies. Their idea was not a pretty picture made transparent, but a window made beautiful. Years of experimenting with various combinations of glass taught them secrets of design which resulted in windows that have never been surpassed.

Glass staining and glass painting are two quite different things. One method is to build up a mosaic of pieces of glass, colored not only on its surface but its very substance. The other is to paint the design upon white or colored glass.

It was in glass making that the ancients excelled. The blue of one school was so vibrant that the workers ground down sapphires to obtain their magic color. The fancy, although popular, is probably fallacious. Nevertheless, the colors of the ancients were so expertly compounded that they blended into a uniform whole in a completed window and never appeared flat or "raw."

The greens, for example, were not a straight mixture of blue and yellow, but a combination of blue and red and yellow in such proportions that they did not fuse into adjoining blues at a distance as do modern blue-and-yellow greens. The reds likewise were distinctive as they contained alternating layers of red and green which gave a mellow softness to light before it reached the eye of the beholder.

Mendelssohn Hailed as Master of Philosophy

As a Jewish philosopher affecting the part of a pioneer, Mendelssohn brought about the understanding of the beauty and humanism of the Bible, says a writer in the Boston Herald. He prepared a basis for the development of science and Judaism. His translation of the Pentateuch had inaugurated a new era in the education of the German Jews.

He gave to his brethren the German Bible, by which means he introduced them to the intellectual life of Germany, and thus through it once more into the civilization of the world at large. Mendelssohn has united Jewish and Christian life. He was the first to advocate the emancipation of the Jews. By his writings he contributed to a great degree to the removal of the racial prejudices against the German Jews.

Mendelssohn died on January 4, 1786, and was deeply mourned, not only by his coreligionists, but also by all the learned world. His memory was celebrated as that of a "Sage-like Secularist." The greatest philosophers of the day exclaimed: "There was but one Mendelssohn."

May-Day Customs

As far back as the Medieval period in England, Chaucer says, it was customary to go out early on the morning of the first of May, "to fetch the May's trove." Hawthorne branches were carried home about sunset and much merry-making. The name, "The May," was given to the Hawthorne, and the ceremony was called "the bringing home the May." A relic of the Roman custom when on May day the goddess Flora was especially honored is seen in the selection of a beautiful village maid to be crowned as queen of the May.

Theoretical Dollar

The term "compensated" or "stabilized" dollar was coined by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale in his book, "Stabilizing the Dollar." It is a theoretical dollar having a constant purchasing power. The theory of the compensated dollar is to convert the present gold standard into a true commodity standard—that is, to standardize the dollar as a unit of purchasing power. Thus, there would be a gold dollar of constant purchasing power with varying weight. Instead of a gold dollar of standard weight and varying purchasing power.

What Is Poverty?

Ernst Schubert died and left great riches to the world—the riches of beauty transferred through the glorious medium of music. Those who came to look into the attic of Schubert declared that he had died in poverty. He was the poor figure of financial tragedy. Lately a bit of his manuscript sold for $5,000. But that does not establish his wealth. The great riches he left are for those who can appreciate them. Men may die without money, but they need not die in poverty in the larger sense. Grove-Patterson in the Mobile Register.

Slay Stone-Eating Germs

Chemical warfare is being waged on germs that are literally eating up big buildings. Scores of organisms that eat stone and other substances have been discovered. Chemicals are sought that will slay the germs without destroying the materials. The germs open the pores in the surface, exposing the material to the destructive influence of the weather. Some bacteria cause erosion in the hardest marble in three weeks.

An Eye for Color

A little girl recently skinned her knee and her mother promptly applied a brightly-colored antiseptic. Several days later the mother served cold meats and catsup. The little girl, seeing her father generously helping himself to catsup, demanded: "Mother, I want some meat with my curochrome on it."

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES
OF THE AVANTAGE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, July 5, 1906

Mrs. C. T. Kerry of Saginaw is here visiting her husband for a few days.

Fred Michelson took his at Jackson 4th.

Miss Nellie Soderburg is visiting Nellie Ferguson.

Jonas Metcalf came up from Holly to celebrate with his mother.

Misses Case and Canfield celebrated at Bay City.

Miss Mable Drummond has been the guest of Katherine Bates the past week.

Miss Hoyt expects to spend a week or two with M. A. Bates before going home for the summer.

The receipts at the Grayling P. O. for the last quarter were the largest in the history of the office. Prosperity.

Einer Rasmussen went to Bay City Tuesday, expecting to leave there Wednesday for a few days visit in Sandusky.

Mr. W. D. Hammond is spending the most of this week fishing and intends to start work in the post office next week.

Miss Helen Johnson, one of our graduates, took the train Friday for Big Rapids, where she will take the teachers' course this summer.

Mrs. S. Phelps is enjoying another streak of joy. Her mother, Mrs. J. J. Coventry is here for a good visit with her, and old friends.

F. Nordin has gone for his spring's vacation, Detroit and Holly. He will bring his wife and children home with him, so he will be glad to stay here.

Our teachers who have returned to their homes, are missed from the village. Their addresses for the present are as follows: Miss Harvey, Detroit; Miss Gull, Flushing; Miss Woodruff, Roscombe; Miss Roeder, Bay City; and Mr. Murray, Frederic.

The parents of the graduating class gave a dance in the opera house, in their honor, Saturday evening, members of the school board and other friends being present. Dancing was kept up till a late hour and the happy boys and girls went home feeling that a great deal had been done for their pleasure.

Arthur Fournier entertained the senior class with Superintendent Bradley and Principal, Miss Annin. The game of "Adventures" was played. Willard Hammond receiving the first prize. Grace Jennings the consolation. A third prize was also presented. Arthur receiving from his father and mother an elegant gold watch and chain, presumably for good conduct during the past sixteen years. Arthur gave to each of the guests a photograph of himself.

The report of the Prosecuting Attorney for six months ending June 30th shows 72 prosecutions with 65 convictions, seventeen of which paid $118.00 in fines besides their costs, four were discharged on payment of costs, and 20 served in the aggregate 260 days in the county jail, with five boarding at the Detroit house of correction 360 days, and 18 discharged on suspended sentence, and one let go on probation, in charge of the County Agent. Fifty of the cases were common drunks and disorderly of the tramp variety.

The graduating exercises of Grayling High school which took place Thursday and Friday of last week, are to be counted among the most interesting and successful in the history of the school. Among the graduates were: Goldie Pond, Ole Johnson, Frank Tromble, Katherine Bates, Otis Johnson, Edith Chamberlain, Emil Hanson, Arthur Fournier, Grace Jennings, Gottle Kraus, Helen Johnson, Victor Brown, Beesie Aeyrs, Willard Hammond and Carl G. Johnson.

Carl G. Johnson, one of our graduates of the class of '06, left Monday night for Grand Rapids, to take a course at the business college.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Why We Stop Growing

The reason we stop growing is because there is a limit to the growth in size of the cells which make up our body. During youth, exercise and nourishment permit cells to grow and multiply up to a certain point, but the "law of growth" prevents undue multiplication of size when the limit is reached. (See 1929 Western Newspaper Union.)

NAVAL RESERVE TO SEE SEA SERVICE

Will Spend Two Weeks on a
U. S. Destroyer.

Washington.—Plans for giving each of the 8,000 naval reservists of the United States two weeks of training at sea during the coming summer have been announced by the Navy department.

Ships from the destroyer squadrons of both the scouting and battle fleets, aided by other vessels assigned for this special duty, will be detailed by the department for the cruises, it was stated.

Destroyers have been selected as training ships, the Navy department explained, because it is to this type of vessel reservists would be assigned in time of emergency. The United States navy now has 100 destroyers in commission and 150 in the laid up fleet. The latter would be manned by the trained reserves in event of mobilization.

Concentration of reserves for the summer cruise will begin July 8 and continue in various naval districts until September. The continental United States is divided into 13 sections. Separate training plans have been made for the reserves of each of them.

Training in division maneuvers, gunnery exercises, and ship routine will be given the reservists. During the first week at sea the vessels will be put through individual ship exercises. It was said. Week-end liberty at various ports for the different cruises will follow the first week's training. The second week's schedule will include division exercises, gunnery practice, boat races and signal competition.

The cruises have been planned to take advantage of the week-end liberty holiday, it was said. Reservists will embark on Saturday afternoon and return to port in time to resume work on Monday morning two weeks later. Reservists in Atlantic coast and southern naval districts will be taken aboard, destroyers, of the scouting fleet, usually stationed in the Atlantic. Those from the far West will sail on vessels of the battle fleet, whose usual home is the Pacific.

Statue of Savior to Guard Rio de Janeiro

Rio de Janeiro.—A great statue of Christ, to watch over Rio de Janeiro from a 2,000-foot hill commanding the harbor and city, is being built on the cowado (lunchbox) peak, and will be finished in two years.

This 125-foot figure, which will be pedestal will reach 150 feet above the famous lunchbox, will vie with New York's Statue of Liberty in prominence and will surpass greatly in size the Christ of the Andes, which stands on the border of Chile and Argentina as a symbol of perpetual peace between those nations.

A fund of $750,000, which the statue will cost, is being collected by the Catholic Center of this city. Work was begun two years ago. Thirty workmen are getting up the ironwork for the reinforced concrete pedestal and foundation which will be placed a surface of 100 feet. The Christ's outstretched arms will cover 125 feet of width and can be seen for many miles both on land and sea.

Paul Landowski, a Russian sculptor, designed the monument, and Silva Costa is the architect. It bears the words, "Christ conquered, reigns, rules," in Latin.

Cat Brings Rat Home for Kitten's Playmate

Asbury Park, N. J.—Employees of a Main street grocery store were treated to the unusual spectacle of a rat playing about with Mollie, a local cat, and her four kittens. What made it most unusual is that Mollie is a female known to be rough on rats, and had just killed two rodents before taking up with this one.

The rat, ungrateful that Mollie had spared his life, tried of his strange playmates and tried to wander away, but Mollie picked him up by the scruff of the neck and returned him among her brood. He climbed up on Mollie's back and went to sleep.

Oil Men Turn to Alfalfa in Search for Riches

Coalinga, Calif.—A California oil company, while waiting for development in a new oil field, is adding to its income by planting 100 acres of alfalfa on its holdings five miles from north. This reverses the usual condition in an oil region. Ordinarily farmers are looking to oil development to bring them wealth.

This Proves Bridge Is Dangerous Game

Winslow, Neb.—To the casual player, bridge may appear to be a harmless game, but Miss Edith Durham, a teacher living here, believes it is a strenuous sport. She is suffering from a dislocated arm—the result of playing bridge.

She was dealt an unusual hand in expressing her surprise and pleasure, she waved her arms in the air and clapped her hands so vigorously that her right shoulder was dislocated. School was closed the next day.

An absent-minded professor at Columbia University went away on his summer vacation after forgetting to give the students their final exams. Any small boy will tell you that here is an ideal teacher.

I'LL TELL THE WORLD

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

He was wearing an Alice blue tam perched jauntily upon the side of his head, and she was wearing an Alice blue tam and their young son was wearing an Alice blue tam, and there was a crowd outside the station also, each member of which was wearing the same sort of headgear. Alice blue was really not his particular color, for he was a brunette, and blue is usually supposed to be for blondes.

"Why does the man wear that funny cap?" an observant youngster inquired of his mother.

"Oh, he's been to some sort of—some sort of—she didn't complete her sentence, for the child asked another question before she had time to determine the exact species of the thing he had been to, but there was no doubt in anyone's mind that he had, and he was coming home from Seattle covered with badges, which he was displaying with pride to the citizens of Vancouver.

He came from New Jersey, so the legend on his cap indicated, and he was a member in good standing I take it in all sorts of organizations, the insignia of which were attached to various parts of his clothing. There were keys and ivory teeth and jewels and engraved emblems hanging from his watch chain, and attached to his waistcoat were two or three pins, while decorating the lapel of his coat were buttons and ribbons and a variety of parti-colored announcements which indicated to the curious observer where he had been and what had been going on and whom he had met and how many times he had been to conventions of this sort before. One could almost read his personal history from birth by the badges he wore.

It is a curious habit which most of us Americans have of broadcasting our beliefs and affiliations by the badges we wear. We soon to keep nothing to ourselves. The elderly gentleman just at the other end of the seat in which I am now sitting in the railway station is a clergyman in the Anglican church. It is quite easy to make out from the cut of his garb and the gold cross which hangs from his watch guard. The young man beside him goes to college at Michigan, belongs to the Sigma Xi fraternity and is a sophomore social organization and is a Republican. All this he announces to the world by the decorations which adorn his front.

An engineer and a shiner in one just walked past me. I know by the gold decoration in his lapel and by the Star-Belt which caught my eye as he went by. He was evidently a good student in college and is not ashamed for everybody to know it.

It doesn't seem exactly modest to be metaphorically shouting as we walk down the street that we are Presbyterians or Episcopalians or members of the plumbers' union or whatever—we do belong to, but there must be some glory or advantage in the custom or not so many Americans would follow it.

"Konjola Best Medicine Ever Given Mankind"

Former Sufferer, Long a Victim of Rheumatism, Finds First and Only Relief in Modern Medicine

MR. J. R. FEIGNER

"I was crippled with rheumatism," said Mr. James K. Feighner, Cottage Grove, Highland Park, Michigan. "I could not walk up stairs; it seemed that every joint in my body was aching with pain. I got scarcely any sleep and had to be so careful of what I ate that I was undernourished."

"I took just three bottles of Konjola and then a change came over me that I shall never forget. The swelling in my joints subsided, the pains became fainter and fainter, my appetite improved, indigestion disappeared and today I am feeling like a man completely made over. I think the world should know that there is a medicine like Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Grayling at the Mac & Gidley drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

CATCH MOST-BROOK TROUT

Splendid cooperation is noted between sportsmen in general and conservation officers in the acquiring of data for the conservation department's creel census cards. The reports received to date indicate that fishing for speckled trout has been quite generally satisfactory with many limit catches reported. The brown and rainbows are reported in lesser numbers. It appears that this season's data will bear out last year's report which indicated that brook trout constituted 85 per cent of the season's trout catch.

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their roads and streets at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars.

In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for savings, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new pavements—of permanent construction.

The forepart of next week the Michigan National Guard are scheduled to arrive at Camp Grayling for the annual summer encampment. Extensive improvements have been made at the military grounds and everything is ready for the arrival. The camp is being held much earlier this year than usual, the troops usually coming the latter part of July and leaving the middle of August. We have not learned when the first train will arrive but it will probably be on Monday, the 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson of Portland, Oregon and their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hawkins and two daughters, Wanda Mae and Jean of San Francisco, Calif. are spending the week at the Axel Nelson cottage at Lake Margrethe. The Andersons were former well known residents of Grayling and are enjoying calling on their many old friends here. They will remain in Michigan for one year visiting in Saginaw and Detroit. Also at the Nelson cottage other visitors for the week are Mrs. Anthony Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Nelson and two children of Saginaw, Jens Rasmussen of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ryder (Helen Nelson) and daughter Jean of Bay City. The Nelson family were also former Grayling residents, but have made frequent visits here during the past several summers owning a cottage at the lake so they have kept in touch with their Grayling friends. Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Anthony Nelson and Mrs. Rasmussen are sisters and brother.

It will interest the Grayling people to know that Ernest W. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Olson, is managing the new Hotel Auburn barber shop at Pontiac. Mr. Olson will be very glad to see any Grayling-folks that might be passing through Pontiac.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Dawes Making a Fine Start in London—Progress of Disarmament Plans

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GENERAL DAWES, an ambassador to Great Britain, is hitting it off right well in London so far, conducting himself and the affairs of his high office with the dignity and good sense that would be expected of him. Wednesday the ambassador and Mrs. Dawes attended their first court in Buckingham palace, and the former settled the "knee breeches" question by appearing in full dress evening attire with long trousers, abandoning the precedent set by his immediate predecessors and reverting to what is truly the correct court dress for American diplomats. Mr. Arthur Henderson, wife of the new secretary of foreign affairs, presented Mrs. Dawes to Queen Mary, who was escorted by the prince of Wales because of the illness of King George. The ambassador's wife in turn presented a number of American women to her majesty.

In another matter that may seem trivial Ambassador Dawes has done what practically all Americans will admit is the correct thing. He has announced that during his incumbency the American embassy in London will be dry, this being the rule in his own home since long before prohibition, although he does not claim to be a teetotaler. In many of the American missions abroad liquor is still served, but the State department has put out the word to be included in expense bills. Otherwise the department does not interfere in the matter.

General Dawes was the guest of the British Empire Service league at a banquet, being entertained as a representative of America's soldiers and of the American Legion. He said he found in the league's constitution "named as one of the fundamental objects for its formation, a statement of purpose which I trust is uppermost in the hearts and consciences of the peoples of the world. It is to further the ideal of comradeship as opposed to force as the arbiter between nations. Let me say that that phrase expresses my chief instruction received from the President of the United States as I left for London—to take up duties as American ambassador and enter into official relations with two great English-speaking nations. That phrase expresses the intent of the Kellogg treaty."

Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, held a long conference with Ambassador Dawes in London, on order of the State department, and then both of them called on Prime Minister MacDonald. The subject of the talks was the progress of disarmament negotiations, the next move in which must come from Europe. Mr. MacDonald was busy all week preparing the speech from the throne, which, it was expected, would announce the place and time for the proposed meeting of the powers for consideration of the disarmament question. In Washington it was believed the naval reduction conference would be held in London in the fall and that the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, would participate. The Italians, it is reported, are ready to enter the party, and this fact will force France to come in, although the French have been clinging to the idea that all disarmament dealings should be managed by the League of Nations.

MAY RAMON FRANCO and three companions, who started from Spain on a projected flight to the United States with a stop at the Azores, disappeared immediately after leaving Cartagena and were missing for a week. They had been practically given up for lost when an airplane from the British airplane carrier Eagle spotted them floating in their big Dordier seaplane near the Azores. The aviators were picked up alive and well and taken to Gibraltar. Their plane, slightly damaged, was hoisted aboard the carrier. News of the rescue was received in Spain with wild jubilation for hope for the men had almost been abandoned. The ships and airplanes of four nations had been seeking for them all the week.

DEBATES on the ratification of the French debt agreement will be held in the French parliament about July 16 and will keep Premier Poincaré in Paris, so the meeting of the office and Germany for adoption of the Young reparations plan, arrangement of cessation of the Rhineland and cleaning up of other war matters is likely to be postponed until late in July. The United States will be invited to the conference, but so far as the proposed international bank of settlement and its operations are concerned, it will keep hands off. This is the decision of Secretary of State Stimson. He said there were no recent developments to change the government's position, which he stated on May 16 was that it does not desire to have any American official participate in the collection of German reparations through the bank or any other agency.

Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, in an eloquent speech in the Reichstag, made it fairly certain that Germany will accept the Young plan if the allies agree to an early evacuation of the Rhineland, despite the hot opposition of the nationalists.

RESUMPTION of diplomatic and trade relations with Soviet Russia will be one of the first acts of the new government of Great Britain. The Soviet regime was formally recognized by the former MacDonald government, but relations were broken off by the mid-on-Arco house headquarters in London of the Russian commercial mission, made by the Conservative government in May 1927. MacDonald and his cabinet are seeking the cooperation of all other parts of the British empire in their Russian policy, though their approval is not technically necessary. It was said the cabinet would not renew the trade agreement by which Russia was allowed to maintain a trading organization in London with diplomatic immunity.

NEWS of the accord between Mexico and the Catholic church was spread all over Mexico, by mail, air plane, radio and every other means, and was greeted with rejoicing by the people. Bells were rung, prisoners released and a general holiday enjoyed. Mr. Pascual Diaz, who had just been made archbishop of Mexico and Archbishop Ruiz of Michoacan conferred with the government officials and tried to make arrangements for the reopening of all churches on Sunday, the day of St. Peter and St. Paul. However the department of the interior said it would be impossible to complete the necessary inventories before about July 10 and that resumption of the normal functioning of the Catholic church throughout the country would not take place fully before that date. On Friday services were resumed at the shrine of the Virgin of Guadalupe, near Mexico City, the ceremonies being extremely impressive and magnificent. Priests who had crossed the border during the troubles are fast returning.

HENRY P. FLETCHER, American ambassador to Italy, has sent his resignation to the President and it has been accepted. Mr. Fletcher, who will sail for home on August 8, has been in the diplomatic service for thirty-one years and has been our representative in Rome for five years. He says he will spend some months in his home in Greencastle, Pa., and that he has no other plans for the future. But it is thought in Washington he will be a candidate for the senate to fill the seat which so far has been denied to William A. Vare. Whatever action the senate takes in the Vare case, a successor to Vare will be elected not later than November, 1932, and maybe sooner if the seat becomes vacant. Mr. Fletcher accompanied Mr. Hoover on his South American trip and many thought he would be selected for secretary of state. It is said he wanted either that place or the ambassadorship to London or Paris. His work as a diplomat has been notable.

REPUBLICANS of Virginia seem to put themselves entirely in the hands of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and his coterie of dry Democrats. They met in state convention last week in Richmond and nominated for governor the same Dr. William A.

Brown of Washington and Lee and variety who was selected by the anti-Smith Democratic convention at Hounoke. Not only that, but they named the entire state slate put up by the Cannon meeting.

Virginia's reorganized form of government, as put into effect under the administration of Gov. Harry Byrd was denounced by Col. Henry A. Anderson of the Hoover law enforcement commission, the convention spokesman. The speaker urged the return to military laws, especially the once denigrated elections and Democratic primaries. Professor Brown was put in nomination by C. Bascom Slipp.

IF PLANS submitted to stockholders are accepted, as it is not doubted, America is to have a great merger of aviation companies with assets of more than $70,000,000. The concerns to be amalgamated are the Wright Aeronautical corporation, the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company, the Keystone Aircraft company and nine or more affiliated concerns. The new company, which will be known as the Curtiss-Wright corporation, will embrace two separate groups of manufacturing companies, the Curtiss group, headed by C. M. Keys, and the Wright group, headed by Richard T. Hoyt, vice president of Hayden-Stearns and company and chairman of the Wright Aeronautical corporation. Mr. Hoyt will be chairman of the board of the new company, and Mr. Keys will be president.

The company will have an authorized capitalization of twelve million shares of no par value stock of which two million shares will be class A stock, entitled to a preferential payment of $2 a share annually, and which will be convertible, share for share, into common stock and callable by the company at $40 a share. The remaining 10,000,000 shares will be common stock.

PRESIDENT HOOVER approved the promotion of Brig. Gen. Tunja H. Van Deman to a major general to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Maj. Gen. Harry A. Smith, commander of the Seventh corps area. Brig. Gen. Frank L. McCoy will be appointed a major general upon the retirement of Van Deman, September 3, at the statutory age of sixty-four. Col. George O. Shaw will fill the vacancy in the brigadier general list.

GOLD medals have been awarded to fifteen Boy Scouts who risked their lives to save the lives of others, according to announcement by the National Court of Honor of which Daniel O. Beard is chairman. The laudus thus honored are:

ONLY NATURAL

"(Medium) Her spirit is very slow in answering the call."
"Sail right lady, jes take yer time. When I married her she was a telephone operator."

THE REASON

"I simply had to let my new maid go today."
"More insubordination, I suppose."
"Why not? I learned the wretch had one more gown than I had."

JUST ORDINARY

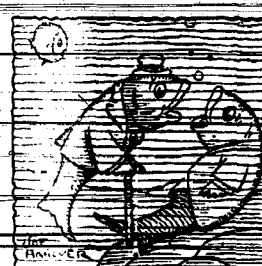

"And you met that brilliant young painter. Is he very artistic?"
"No, not at all; he's really a very nice man."

NATURALLY HORNED IN

"That cat's always horned in."
"Well, her father's a cowboy and she was raised on a ranch."

A BAD NIGHT

First Fish—"You say you didn't get a wink of sleep last night? How was that?" Second Fish—"The dog-fish kept me awake barking at the moon fish."

"My down."

Pineapple Canning

The canning of pineapple began in this country about the early '80s, the supply of fruit being brought chiefly from the West Indies and delivered in Baltimore, where for the most part, the canning was done. The canning of pineapple in the Hawaiian islands began about ten years later.

The time has now arrived when the small boy begins to count the days until county fair week.

Ginkgo Tree Only One That Has No Enemies

Only one species of plant life now growing in the United States is without an enemy trying to take its life, Dr. William A. Taylor, chief of the bureau of plant industry, reported to the house appropriations committee during hearings in Washington.

"This un molested tree is the Japanese ginkgo tree," Doctor Taylor stated. "So far as we know this tree has no insect or fungus enemy at the present time."

On a driveway leading to the United States Department of Agriculture buildings the street is lined on both sides with the ginkgo trees. In the fall they present a striking appearance, for as the yellow leaves fall they heap up on the sidewalks like piles of gold.

The ginkgo tree has a fruit, but one which the white man scorns. The nut inside is rather tasty, but as Doctor Taylor said, "It is surrounded by a most abominable smelling and tasting pulp. It smells more like salt-rising bread in the process of fermentation than any other thing. Chinese laundresses pick up the fruit, take them home, clean them and eat the kernels."—Kansas City Star's Science Service.

Last British Invasion

French Practical Joke?

The last invasion of England by an armed enemy force was on February 22, 1797, when a French army of 1,400 men, under General Tate, landed at Fishguard with an idea apparently of conquering Wales. The whole affair proved farcical. Lord Cawdor hastily gathered together the local militia, and hundreds of women, dressed in the national costume, red mantles and beaver hats, accompanied their menfolk, whereupon the invaders, concluding that large reinforcements had reached Fishguard, hastened to make unconditional surrender. Tate was an American, many of his officers were Irish, and more than half his men were convicts released to help to equip the expedition. There were not wanting cynics who declared that the French government had planned the whole affair with the sole idea of getting 1,400 incorrigible ruffians hoarded and lodged at the expense of the British.

Great Forests on Pacific

Nowhere in the world are there such magnificent forests as those found along the immediate coast north of San Francisco, says the American Tree association. West of the Cascade and coast ranges the mild climate, heavy rainfall and generally humid atmospheric conditions have resulted in the production of a forest that is more wonderful in the density of its growth and the majesty of its development than is to be found anywhere else. The sequoias of California are the giants of the vegetable kingdom. The Douglas fir, Sitka spruces and the giant arbor vitae (western red cedars) of Oregon and Washington are second in size only to the sequoias.

Fish Oil Ice Cream

Ice cream made from fish oil, snow and sugar recently was an unexpected winter treat of Eskimos of Alaska. The odor was strong but the dish is said to have tasted better than it smells. Eskimos caught great numbers of eulachin, a species of small fish which is sometimes called the candlefish because it contains so much oil. These they placed in holes lined with heated rocks, and after the fish were cooked they were placed in covered baskets on which the women tread with bare feet to extract the oil. During cold weather the oil has much the consistency of butter. To make the ice cream, the oil was melted and sugar and snow were added, then stirred in.

Why Borah Couldn't Come

The Golden Rule recounts the story of how Mrs. William Borah, wife of the senator, arrived alone at a diplomatic breakfast in Washington during the late days of the Coolidge administration when the Kellogg anniversary treaty was still in process of negotiation. Asked by Secretary of State Kellogg what had become of her husband, the gentle and literal Mrs. Borah replied: "He said that if you asked for him, Mr. Kellogg, I was to say that he is at home working on your d-d treaty."

One Thing Certain

Some questions will forever remain unsolved. A back East physician once told a colored woman who had called to consult him in regard to an ailment, that her vitality was much run down. "Suppose," said he, brightly, using one of Doctor Holmes' questions for the purpose, "you were packed in a barrel of snow. How much of it could you melt?" The lady answered: "Ah—don't—she replied fervently, then—what's—no! Ah—ah! never goin' to find out."—Portland Oregonian.

Hernandez Found Dahlia

It was in 1870 that Philip II of Spain sent Francisco Hernandez to Mexico to compile an official report of the tree and plant life of New Spain. He sent seeds to the director of the Royal Botanic gardens in Madrid, who, says Nature Magazine, disseminated the dahlias throughout Europe. Hernandez found the dahlia, not as a wild flower, but in the cultivated gardens of the Aztecs.

Old-Time School Athletics

An old-timer was complaining that the schools devote too much time to athletics nowadays. "Well," someone asked, "what did you old-timers do when you went to school?" "We had fights," replied the old-resident. —Glen Elder (Knox) Sentinel.

The Care of Your Money.

STOCKS VS. BONDS

The safest method of investing your money so that it will earn more money for you is in the purchase of good bonds.

So many people fail to distinguish a bond from a share of stock that this article pointing out the main differences should prove helpful.

A bond is a note of indebtedness signed by an individual or a corporation promising to pay back the amount of the bond with interest. In the case of a mortgage bond, the payment is secured by a mortgage—"a death grip" on property backing the investment.

A share of stock, on the other hand, is a mere certificate of ownership in a corporation. The holder actually owns a portion of the business and has a right to determine the corporation's policy by vote, and to share in its profits.

The investor in bonds loans his money to the corporation and receives a bond in return. The stockholder, on behalf of the corporation, promises to pay it back and mortgage the property as security. The first mortgage bond is the highest form and is outstanding in so far as the mortgage is the bondholder's safeguard. It has many advantages of safety over stocks.

Bond interest and principal must be paid when due, otherwise the mortgaged property may be taken over and operated for the benefit of the bondholders or the mortgage foreclosed and the property sold, the proceeds being used to reimburse the bondholders.

Dividends on stocks are only paid if sufficient funds remain after all expenses and debts of the company have been settled (including interest to bondholders). And in the case of liquidation the stockholder receives payment only after the bondholders and other debtors have been paid.

The holder of a share of stock shares the success or the failure of the enterprise. The bondholder secures safety because in the after-ter of precedence, his mortgage bond has prior claim over all other securities.

Other advantages of bonds over stocks are:

Bonds are more acceptable as collateral. The value of a bond does not fluctuate the way stocks do. Stocks may fall $10, $20, $30, $40 a share within a few months, while bonds—very rarely—fall very slowly and with very narrow limits. The person with a limited amount of money to invest plays safe and sure by buying bonds. The chief requisite of a good investment is maximum amount of safety, and it is a well known fact that first mortgage bonds are much safer than stocks in general.
